Environmental Services

What we do...

The City of Frisco's Environmental Services works throughout the city to help create, manage, and build awareness of community recycling, litter prevention, hazardous material collection, and general environmental friendly practices. We do this through a number of activities including, school visits, our curb-side recycling program, advertising and articles, community clean-up events, our hazardous waste collection and recycling center, community outreach and education, and through volunteers like you!

Frisco Recycles

Do you??

How we can help you!

Are you looking for activities for a youth group or service oriented projects and don't know what to do? Are you working on expanding your volunteerism levels, looking for some help with a particular activity dealing with the environment? Is your group working on an environmental project and would like more information, site-visit, or guest speaker?

Then you have come to the right place.

We have helped many groups in the Frisco area find worthy, responsible, community oriented service projects dealing with the environment.

Some project ideas include:

- ☆ Setting up recycling programs at your location or other areas
- ☆ Building Texas drought resistant gardens at your location or community areas
- ☆ Developing new collection or recycling programs for special "Recycle" day programs.
- ☆ Developing water conservation programs for your facility or community area

You can also volunteer in one of our many community service programs that run year round.

Some of our community service programs include:

- ☆ Citywide "Clean it and Green it" trash pickup events. These are done 4 times a year.
- ☆ Park cleanups and litter pickups
